

MILWAUKEE DAILY SENTINEL.

VOLUME XIV.—NEW SERIES.

MILWAUKEE, WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 16, 1857.

WHOLE NUMBER 4847.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

KING, JERMAIN & CO.,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

RUFUS KING.....T. D. JERMAIN.....H. H. BRIGHAM.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 16.

TO ADVERTISERS.

Our Advertising Partners will please hand to their "Advertisers" by 2 P.M., or as much earlier in the day as possible, all copy intended for insertion in the next number, which will be inserted after 6 o'clock.

Advertisers appearing in the Local Column, will be charged 50 cents per line for the first and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion.

TRAVELLERS' DIRECTORY.

Railroads.

Lake Shore & Mich. 5.00 P.M. 9.00 P.M. 6.00 A.M.
Mil. & Minn. 5.00 P.M. 9.00 P.M. 6.00 A.M.
Mil. & St. L. 5.00 P.M. 9.00 P.M. 6.00 A.M.
Mil. & Chi. 5.00 P.M. 9.00 P.M. 6.00 A.M.
Mil. & N.Y. 5.00 P.M. 9.00 P.M. 6.00 A.M.

Nicholson's.

The Plan, for Chicago, at 9 o'clock this evening from Johnson & Durand's office on the river. The Arctic, for Two Rivers and intermediate ports, thence to Green Bay & Superior's dock.

Steamer Standard leaves every Wednesday evening, the return day, from Keweenaw's dock.

THE MAMMOT WHOLESALE BOOKSTORE.

ST. LOUIS LAND & CO.,
LAW & MEDICINE.

BOOKSELLERS, STATIONERS, BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN PAPER, PRINTERS, BOOKBINDERS AND ARTIST'S MATERIALS, WALL PAPER AND FABRIC GOODS, 134 EAST Water Street, overlooking great business thoroughfares on the waterfront.

GOODS SOLD AT RETAIL.

A County Merchants visiting our city, can find the location of the principal Wholesale Houses and Manufacturers by consulting our directory, by viewing the Business Directory column of this paper.

Milwaukee & Superior Railroad.

We were indebted, on Monday, to the courtesy of Mr. Lovett, Engineer of the Milwaukee & Superior R. R., for a pleasant ride over the completed portion of their road. The party, consisting of a dozen or more gentlemen, connected with different Railroads in the State, left the La Crosse Depot in a car drawn by a new and splendid locomotive, the Megion, one of five contracted for Boston, by the Milwaukee & Superior R. R. Company. The road follows for four miles the track of the La Crosse R. R., the latter making a broad bend to the West at the junction, while the Milwaukee & Superior road pursues its course Northwardly, on an air-line to Fond du Lac. About four miles of the Superior road is now finished. The grading has been faithfully done; the ties are the most substantial we have seen, and the rails have been carefully laid. As a consequence, the track is remarkably smooth, and our train glided along without jar, or jolt. From the end of the track to Megion, 18 miles from Milwaukee, the grading is very nicely completed; and they commence laying down the iron next Monday. The Company have now hand enough for 20 miles; they expect to reach Megion by the middle of October, and Germantown, 18 miles, in November. When the latter point is reached, the road will be opened for business; and though its value, as a commercial artery, to Milwaukee, will not be appreciated till it reaches Fond du Lac and Lake Winnebago, the local traffic of this district will be very large. As soon as winter sets in, daily lines of stages will run from Germantown, north, in connection with the road, making the through trip from Milwaukee to Manitowoc in due time.

We have heretofore spoken of the merits of this enterprise, and of the rich, populous and inviting country traversed by the Milwaukee and Superior R. R. Its early completion to Fond du Lac, and its extension, as speedily as means can be obtained, northwardly to Lake Superior, are objects of first consequence to our city, as to the intervening region. Thus far, the affairs of the Company appear to have been prudently managed, and the work has been prosecuted with vigor, economy and dispatch.

Returning homeward, our party stopped for a few moments to look at the Machine Shops of the La Crosse and Milwaukee R. R. These occupy a natural plateau, overlooking the river and short distance below the same. There is the Round House, with sixteen stalls for the "ferry" iron carriers, during their intervals of rest; the Reservoir, supplied from the river and distributing the needed element through all parts of the works; the Blacksmith shop, soon to be replaced by a larger and more substantial structure; the Locomotive Repairing shop, the car shop, &c. &c. On the numerous side-tracks stand some hundreds of cars, waiting their turn of work, while long lines of cord wood occupy the intermediate spaces. The busy and crowded look of the place gave us a good idea of the large and rapidly increasing trade of the La Crosse Road, as did the departure and arrival of the afternoon passenger trains, each filled with people. Indeed, it only needs the completion of the La Crosse and Milwaukee R. R. to the Mississippi, to convince the most sceptical that as an important avenue of trade and travel and a most valuable feeder to the business of our city, the half has not yet been told of the merits of this great enterprise.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

We wish to know whether the Forty Thieves can impose a tariff on us, under threat and usages, implying that we shall not succeed. They can do the fine figuring, but let us see how popular they are with the people.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview, to purge himself from connection with the slaves, and getting no satisfaction, has added bolt. It says:

We are frequently asked whether we intend to support Mr. Randall for Governor. We shall be no friends to him. We sincerely believe it to be the best interest of the party and the State, that Mr. Cross should be defeated, and we shall not vigorously vote for that end. We intend to do our best to defeat him.

The Antics in Ernest.

The Madison Patriot, after giving Mr. Cass ample opportunity, by correspondence and by personal interview,

